

Partner your school with UWS

Who we are...

United World Schools (UWS) is an independent UK charity that provides education to children who cannot access a meaningful alternative, because we believe that every child deserves an education. We have now reached over 15,000 previously out-of-school children thanks to the support of more than 100 Partner Schools.

What we do...

We 'teach the unreached', working where:

- No free alternative education exists
- Communities want an education and commit to sending all children to school, including girls
- We can employ local teachers who speak the indigenous language
- Governments will provide trained teachers and offer our pupils a path to a national accreditation
- In the future, our schools can be transitioned into the national system

Could you be our next partner school?

School Partnerships play a key role in our work. We pair each of our UWS Schools with a Partner School in the UK or overseas. The students attending a UWS School will access education for the first time, but there are also many benefits to you.

Benefits to your school:

- ✓ Photos and updates from your partner community
- ✓ Case studies, interviews and research packs
- ✓ Talks and assemblies from the UWS Schools Team
- ✓ Recognition of student leadership with our Citizenship Awards
- ✓ Opportunities to visit and teach in your UWS School

Did you know? £1 can go a long way...

We can run a UWS School for £1 per student, per week. Partner Schools can choose to take on the running costs of a whole UWS School, or a specific project, from training a teacher to building an entire school.

We look forward to hearing from you!

"Working with the UWS team has been one of the most effective and enjoyable partnership experiences! I'd give an unreserved recommendation to any school wishing to develop their community spirit to join the UWS family."
